

U. S. POULTRY FENCING

is so stiff and strong and stretches so straight and true that the use of top rail baseboard and so many posts are unnecessary. Further, more where top rail is used chickens can see something to fly to, therefore the fence must be higher. If no top rail is used it is not necessary to have your fence so high. This fencing is built for beauty, strength, durability and economy. No buckling or sagging, and is still young fencing when other poultry fences are worn out. Phone, write or wire us your orders.
